

The EXCELLEAD Framework

Learning is a life-long process, which can happen in multiple ways and contexts. It is the sum of our experiences during which we gain knowledge, interact, connect and converse with others, improve ourselves, network, reflect on experiences, give and receive feedback, think outside the box and mentor others.

When the educational and meeting opportunities systematically available to a person, or group of persons, are well-structured, with the learner(s) truly in the epicenter of the design process, the functioning of that system of services is elevated to a higher level, as a result of improved professional staff and happier learners. This leads to ripple effects of more personally developed individuals, a higher quality of life (in educational, family and work contexts) and a healthier society overall.

For the design and delivery of top-quality events that take into consideration all important elements with care, creativity and sensitivity, a tested, methodical, clear and reliable Framework is needed.

The EXCELLEAD Framework serves this purpose.

EXCELLEAD stands for...

Excellence in the architecture of live learning, meeting and networking events
Xperiences that are meaningful and inspiring for learners and educators
Customization to target populations, program objectives and educational settings
Engagement of learners with passion, reliability, flexibility and motivation
Learners that have their own expectations, concerns, contributions and reflections
Lifelong learning that should be inspired and supported through impactful programs
Enthusiasm of the trainers and event organizers that is visible to the learners
Active, creative, relevant methods, adjusted to content, objectives and comfort needs
Design that practically innovates and elevates the quality of what is generally on offer

The Framework is the result of years of experience in attending and delivering programs where individuals improve their skills, share knowledge and create connections, coupled with the sensitivity, unique value and code of ethics the worlds of Psychology and Facilitation bring to the table.

The Framework brings added value to any event where connections need to be made, knowledge to be jointly created and problems to be solved, within every industry sector where people gather to advance their professional knowledge and expertise.

Consultation for the preparation of an event and/or live observation and structured feedback during or following an event, based on the EXCELLEAD Framework, is available upon request.